

Confidentiality and Consent

Consent

Before accessing our services, we need to ensure that we get your explicit and informed consent for the use of your data, as a result, we request that you read the following before clicking consent and submitting your request.

What Data do Solent NHS Trust Collect and why?

- Test kits and requests for condoms:
Your demographic details are collected so that we can process your request for a test kit or condoms to be posted to you. At this stage your data is not used for anything else.
- Test Results:
If you post a test kit back to be tested, in addition to your demographic details, which you supply, we will also record your test result and any subsequent treatment.
- Live Chat:
You are asked to provide a name so that we can communicate with you and a partial postcode, so we can assess the services available to you within the local area. The name provided does not need to be your real name. We also keep copies of your conversations, for training and monitoring purposes, for a short period of time.
- Social Media:
If you contact us privately through our service Social Media channels, we may keep copies of conversations, for training and monitoring purposes, for a short period of time.

Who will have access to your data and why?

Only staff who have an authorised reason, in order to provide a service to you will have access to your data and will only access it as and when they are providing a service to you; this includes both clinical and administrative staff within the Sexual Health Service.

In addition to Solent NHS Trust Employees, the following Data Processors (contracted organisations) will also have access to your data;

- The Doctors Laboratory – www.tdlpathology.com
If you are requesting a test kit or have submitted a test kit then your data will be processed on our behalf by The Doctors Laboratory. They are legally contracted to only use your data for the purpose of providing condoms, posting test kits or testing kits submitted. They will store your data for an appropriate amount of time, so as to process your request and to respond to queries or complaints. Only authorised staff will have access to your data at this time.

- Live Helper Chat – <https://livehelperchat.com/>

Your clinical record, should you seek further treatment from Solent NHS Trust?

As a service, we feel that keeping your data and information confidential and secure is extremely important. When you use the service the information in your notes are stored securely on our computer system and are strictly confidential. It can sometimes be useful and beneficial to your health to share your records with your GP but we will not do this without your permission to do so.

If you're 13 to 15 years old, you have the same rights to confidentiality as an adult. This means that we won't tell your parents, or anyone else without your permission. However there may be circumstances surrounding Safeguarding concerns, where limited information may need to be shared for other legal reasons and to safeguard you.

For any contact we send you, we will always ask you how you want to receive this information; either via text or post and in some cases your GP. For this reason it is important for us to have accurate contact details for you.

There are certain situations where we, as a service, may need to share your confidential information. We would always discuss this with you first and this will only happen if we are concerned that you or someone else are at serious risk of harm.

Cookies:

Solent NHS Trust uses Google Analytics cookies on its websites, which allow us to collect information such as the browser, operating system and screen resolution used, the pages you visit on our website, an anonymised version of your IP address, and your location (country only).

A cookie is a small file which asks permission to be placed on your computer's hard drive. Once you agree, the file is added and the cookie helps analyse web traffic or lets you know when you visit a particular site. Cookies allow web applications to respond to you as an individual. The web application can tailor its operations to your needs, likes and dislikes by gathering and remembering information about your preferences.

We use traffic log cookies to identify which pages are being used. This helps us analyse data about web page traffic and improve our website in order to tailor it to customer needs. We only use this information for statistical analysis purposes and then the data is removed from the system.

Overall, cookies help us provide you with a better website, by enabling us to monitor which pages you find useful and which you do not. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer or any information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

The anonymous information collected is sent to Google so that we can use their analytics reporting tools. We do not send personally identifiable information to Google. For more information on how Google uses the data we send them, please see <https://www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners/>.

You can choose to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. This may prevent you from taking full advantage of the website.
